

Design Spec:

I want my website to convey a cool and calm tone. I plan to use a variety of cool blues and greys. Not only do these colors help my website give off the tones I am aiming for, but they are also representative of the ocean which is appropriate given that the website is about shipwrecks and scuba diving. I think this is the best approach because the current website is very bland, and the colors do not go well together. Additionally, even though there is not a lot of content on the pages the way everything is structured makes it seem very clustered and organized. Therefore, I will also be aiming for a more modern tone where the information is organized into sections and have clear borders to separate the contents.

Design Palette

Fonts and Sizes:

Title (Domine, 48px)

Heading Text (Domine, 22px)

Nav 1 | Nav 2 | Nav 3 | Nav 4 (Playfair Display, 16px)

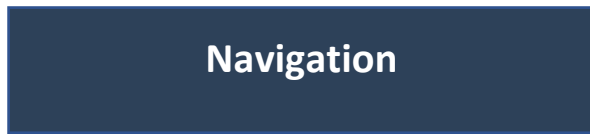

This is the body. (Open Sans, 17px)

Color Scheme:

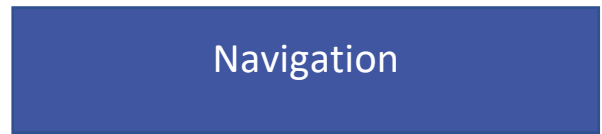

Hover examples and navigation buttons:

No hover

Hover

Corners:

Corner 1

Corner 2

Ship Wrecks Around Ireland

LOGO

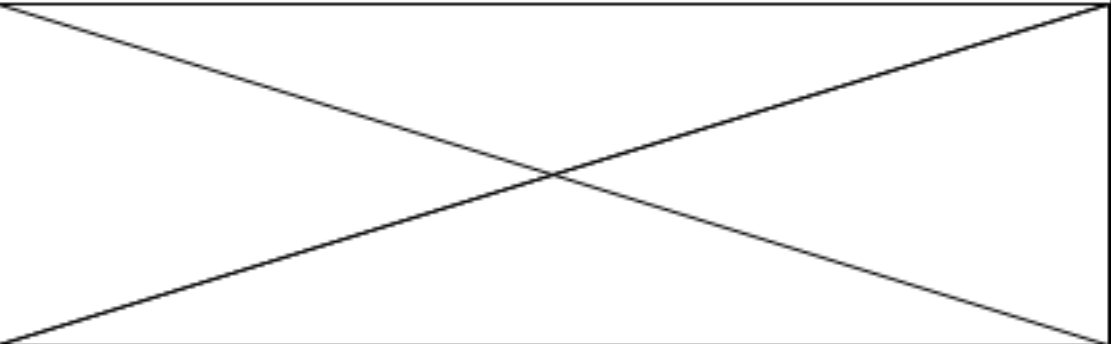

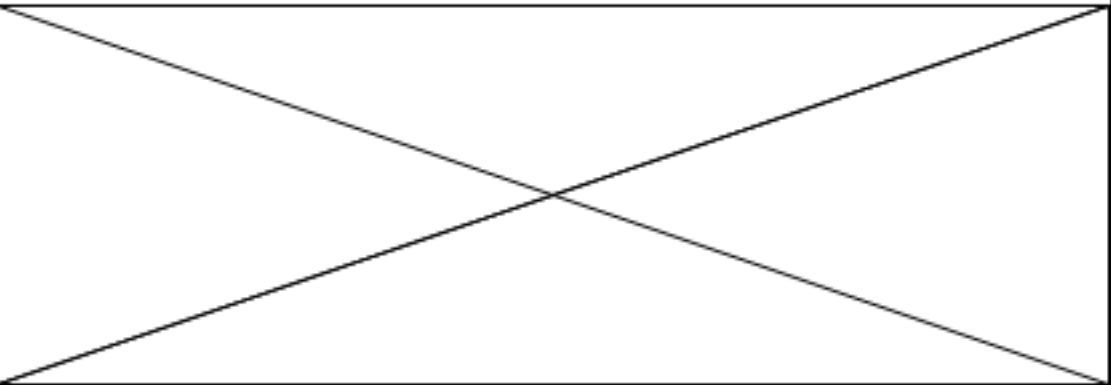

Navigation Bar

Description 1		Description 3
	Description 2

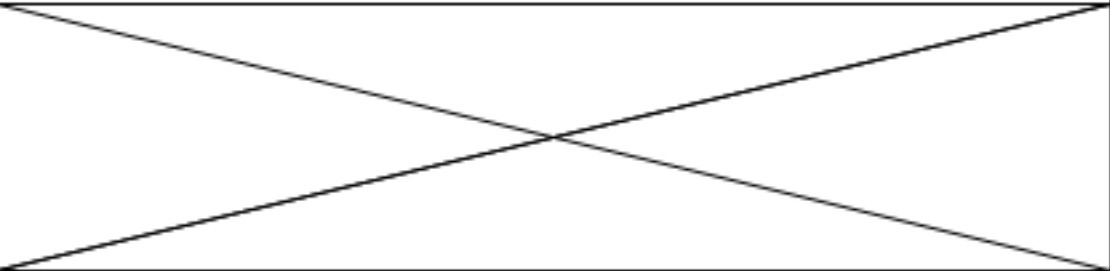

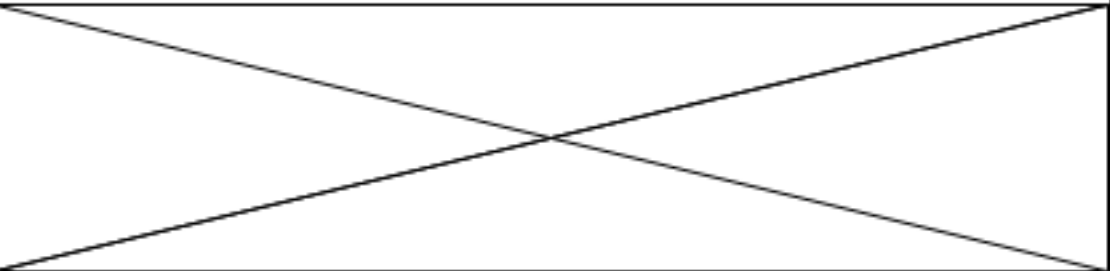

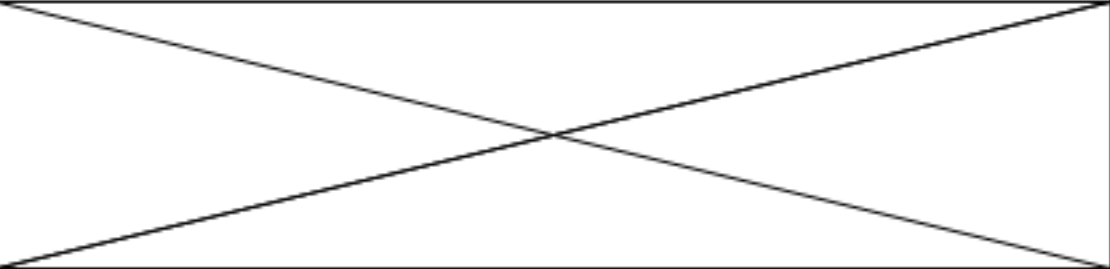

Make page accessible through navigation bar

Maybe add a fourth section and split grid 20%

Home page mobile view

Ship Wrecks Around Ireland
SlickNav Bar
Welcome Section

Shipwreck Count
Club Information

Content page mobile view

Ship Wrecks Around Ireland
SlickNav Bar
Description 1

Description 2

Description 3

Maybe additional description
and picture